Tales Told at Midnight Along the Rio Grande - Valley Byliners 2006-12
Tales Told at Midnight Along the Rio Grande: A great river with two names forms the southern boundary of Texas. Here, two cultures clash and old world ghosts collide with new. Two peoples create their myths and legends, each with their own heroes and villains, lovers and friends, natural and supernatural. Collected and created by the Valley Byliners are 34 such tales suitable for those darkest hours. The members of the Valley Byliners, whose history as an organization stretches back to the 1940s, have come together to produce a fourth book. The writers sincerely hope you'll be amazed and thrilled. Perhaps you'll feel the chill of something other-worldly at your back as you read their latest offering.

Come fu temprato l'acciaio - Nikolaj Alekseevič Ostrovskij 2015-11-19
Considerato il capolavoro della letteratura sovietica d'ispirazione realista, Come fu temprato l'acciaio è, per eccellenza, il romanzo della Russia e della sua Rivoluzione. Al centro della narrazione, la vita di Pavel, lavoratore, membro del Komsomol e soprattutto, in un avvincente crescendo di consapevolezza, lotta e dedizione assoluta alla causa, protagonista di quella guerra civile che avrebbe consentito l'avvento del primo stato comunista della storia. Basato su fatti realmente accaduti e sulla stessa biografia dell'autore, il romanzo - un best seller tradotto in tutto il mondo - restituisce il senso collettivo di un'esperienza memorabile: la storia di quella generazione di operai e lavoratori russi che misero la loro esistenza al servizio della Rivoluzione, «uomini nuovi» a cui la metafora dell'acciaio contenuta nel titolo scelto da Ostrovskij è dedicata.

Abitare 'alla moderna'. Il rinnovo architettonico a Genova tra XVI e XVII secolo - Luciano Grossi Bianchi 2005-07-01

Da una ricca base documentaria, è colta la dinamica per cui la città cinque e seicentesca, crescendo in altezza sulla rete dei vecchi sedimi medievali, diventa 'moderna'. Per la prima volta sono chiariti i meccanismi economici con cui sono stati sviluppati i quartieri popolari trasformando le primitive case artigiane in 'case a mezzani' con fino a sette piccoli alloggi uguali sovrapposti e come, nelle aree centrali, tra piani nobili e 'mezzarie', con il commercio, l'ospitalità, l'ingombrante servitù, e la sobria abitazione di una sola famiglia, fossero organizzate su sette livelli, le ricche case mercantili, oggi scomparse. La ricerca è rivolta al contesto urbano più che ai grandi palazzi rappresentativi. Con una serie di progetti di trasformazione, che riportano lo stato delle case prima e dopo gli interventi, si risale ai mutamenti della moda e del gusto, ma anche dei modi di vita della società genovese: dalla casa medievale, alla rinascimentale, alla barocca, verso la casa borghese.

The Early Modern Italian Domestic Interior, 1400-1700 - Erin J. Campbell 2016-03-23

Emphasizing on the one hand the reconstruction of the material culture of specific residences, and on the other, the way in which particular domestic objects reflect, shape, and mediate family values and relationships within the home, this volume offers a distinct contribution to research on the early modern Italian domestic interior. Though the essays mainly take an art historical approach, the book is interdisciplinary in that it considers the social implications of domestic objects for family members of different genders, age, and rank, as well as for visitors to the home. By adopting a broad chronological framework that encompasses both Renaissance and Baroque Italy, and by expanding the regional scope beyond Florence and Venice to include domestic interiors from less studied centers such as Urbino, Ferrara, and Bologna, this collection offers genuinely new perspectives on the home in early modern Italy.

Unjust Enrichment and Public Law - Rebecca Williams 2010-06-30

This book examines claims involving unjust enrichment and public bodies in France, England and the EU. Part 1 explores the law as it now stands in England and Wales as a result of cases such as Woolwich EBS v IRC, those resulting from the decision of the European Court of Justice (ECJ) in Metallgesellschaft and Hoechst v IRC and those involving Local Authority swaps transactions. So far these cases have been viewed from either a public or a private law perspective, whereas in fact both branches of the law are relevant, and the author argues that the courts ought not to lose sight of the public law issues when a claim is brought under the private law of unjust enrichment, or vice versa. In order to achieve this a hybrid approach is outlined which would allow the law access to both the public and private law aspects of such cases. Since there has been much discussion, particularly in the context of public body cases, of the relationship between the common law and civilian approaches to unjust enrichment, or enrichment without cause, Part 2 considers the French approach in order to ascertain what lessons it holds for England and Wales. And finally, as the Metallgesellschaft case itself makes clear, no understanding of such cases can be complete without an examination of the relevant EU law. Thus Part 3 investigates the principle of unjust enrichment in the European Union and the division of labour between the European and the domestic courts in the ECJ's so-called 'remedies jurisprudence'. In particular it examines the extent to which the two relevant issues, public law and unjust enrichment, are defined in EU law, and to what extent this remains a task for the domestic courts. Rivers to Cross - Robert Thrift 2021-08-09

Rivers to Cross begins with the family history of two young men whose origins came from opposite sides of the Rio Grande. It then follows them from birth on into adulthood where they were unwilling to allow prejudice or their many differences divide them. They shared each other's joys and tragedies, agreements and disagreements, highs and lows. Though following very different life courses, they maintained a respect for one another and a commitment to one another that shaped their worldview.

Memo to the Leader - William Walling 2019-11-20

Could the course and outcome of World War II be changed redundantly? Possibly, since all you need is a professional, experienced time-traveling historical researcher. The task may not be quite that simple, however, so he had better be very, very careful ... The Lebe Technique, a secret "weapon" developed by a theoretical physicist among ODESSA SS exiles fleeing war crimes prosecution in 1960 Argentina, requires endless experimental trials prior to sending an ex-SS officer back to 1939 Berlin along with a full-blown account of "actual" WWII for use in some unknown way to "coach" a German victory. Berlin, renamed Welthauptstadt Germania, the capital of Germany's neo-Nazi Empire by Hitler after the Third Reich caps its "War of World Liberation" by creating numerous foreign provinces, and becoming the seat of Neo-Nazi Germany's Empire. During imperial year 142, dating from 1933 when the vilified Nazi régime was born, veteran time-traveling Professor James Silverthorne of Goebbels Institut, once the University of Colorado in grossly swollen Greater Denver Gauleitung, the capital of Colorado-Provinz, is vetted by Nazi officialdom to undertake a hazardous retro-temporal research junket in millennia-distant European antiquity. But local counter-dissidence Sicherheitsdienst investigators penetrate an allied revolutionary cell, and arouse suspicion that Silverthorne also members among the patriotic conspirators scheming to overthrow the Neo-Nazi empire, thus forcing his emergency retro-temporal return to the early months of WWII with an assignment to locate, hinder, thwart, or simply eliminate imperial hero of heroes Erich Lustmann, who by some totally unknown means has imitated Nostradamus and is beginning to influence a WWII victory by Nazi Germany. Fearing his "mission impossible" to find Lustmann in bustling, wartime Berlin is precisely that, Silverthorne pursues his redundant world-changing crusade in an exciting time-travel adventure grand in scope and purpose.

Le geometrie del Castello di Anet - Antonio Calandriello 2022-11-30

Lo scopo di questa ricerca è stato quello di individuare come si sia sviluppato il 'linguaggio grafico' di Philibert de l'Orme, tentando di dimostrare che tale linguaggio stereotomico non derivi da un modello astratto, ma da una traduzione in grafici di un pensiero che si è formato con la pratica di cantiere e da una serie di altre pratiche ad esso connesse. Le sezioni di stereotomia contenute nel Le Premier tome de l'Architecture di de l'Orme e i relativi traits sono divenuti gli strumenti principali che hanno aiutato la decifrazione dell'evoluzione del linguaggio grafico dell'autore, unitamente all'indagine del contesto storico-scientifico e le relative influenze, che provenienti dal passato, hanno aiutato a configurare il 'pensiero' di de l'Orme. Molte delle operazioni proto-descrittive presenti all'interno del trattato si concretizzano nelle opere progettate da de l'Orme, tra il 1552 e il 1559, per Diana di Poitiers, e situate nel Castello di Anet (Francia), che hanno costituito il testimone per la verifica dell'esatta corrispondenza dei principi enunciati nel trattato. Infine, tali principi hanno trovato applicazione in un'ipotesi di ricostruzione digitale delle parti andate distrutte del criptoportico. Tarantula Woman - Donald O'Donovan 2011-01-23

Located across the U.S.-Mexican border in Ciudad Juarez, Mariscal Street (otherwise known as the Boulevard of Broken Dreams) harbors Donald O'Donovan's quintessential character, Jerzy Mulvaney, as he unsuccessfully courts the Tarantula Woman—a prostitute named Ysela with a tattoo of a tarantula on her left shoulder blade. She is just one of many women in one man's unapologetic and aimless existence in Mexico where each day brings another round of whorehouses, drunken stupors, odd jobs, eruptions of violence and encounters with equally directionless individuals. Not since Charles Bukowski's Factotum has a transgressive autobiographical novel touched upon with such rawness the everyday realities of a modern-day American desperado. Yet somewhere in the midst of all the strident nihilism, O'Donovan's alter ego, Jerzy Mulvaney, manages to stumble upon an ambition of sorts: to become a real Mexican. "I wanted to destroy whatever remained of my identity, my American identity; to melt down into a primal being, because the greatest thing is to be unknown, anonymous, and truly free." Rather than a work of fiction, Tarantula Woman is a refreshingly honest document that subtly addresses such essential subjects as life, love, death and the challenge of simply being.

Cooking and Eating in Renaissance Italy - Katherine A. McIver 2014-12-05

Renaissance Italy's art, literature, and culture continue to fascinate. The domestic life has been examined more in recent years, and this book reveals the preparation, eating, and the sociability of dining in Renaissance Italy. It takes readers behind the scenes to the Renaissance kitchen and dining room, where everyday meals as well as lavish banquets were prepared and consumed. Katherine McIver considers the design, equipment, and location of the kitchen and food prep and storage rooms in both middle-class homes and grand country estates. The diner's room, the orchestration of dining, and the theatrical experience of dining are detailed as well, all in the context of the renowned food and architectural scholars of the day.

The definitive book on Mexico City: a vibrant, seductive, and paradoxical metropolis—the second-biggest city in the world, and a vision of our urban future. First Stop in the New World is a street-level panorama of Mexico City, the largest metropolis in the western hemisphere and the cultural capital of the Spanish-speaking world. Journalist David Lida expertly captures the kaleidoscopic nature of life in a city defined by pleasure and danger, ecstatic joy and appalling tragedy-hanging in limbo between the developed and underdeveloped worlds. With this literary-journalist account, he establishes himself as the ultimate chronicler of this bustling megalopolis at a key moment in its-and our-history.

Timothy Scott, canadese di mezza età, finisce in prigione per un errore giudiziario, presunto colpevole dell'omicidio della sua compagna Edith. Durante gli anni di carcere, Tim si distingue per la buona condotta e il carattere mite e sensibile ma il peso dell'inevitabile monotonia si fa sentire a tal punto da spingerlo quasi al suicidio. A salvarlo da questo stato di malessere giunge la notizia di un asteroide, il Pathos 433, che nel giro di 24 mesi dovrebbe intercettare la traiettoria della Terra. Un evento catastrofico che però sembra essere di vitale importanza per la rinascita di Tim. Si prepara all'impatto con estrema attenzione e cercando quante più informazioni scientifiche possibili. L'asteroide non da scampo al pianeta e lo colpisce con tutta la potenza possibile. Ha inizio una lunga notte che porterà distruzione e freddo. Dal momento in cui il protagonista mette piede fuori dal carcere, la Terra non sarà più la stessa e gli riserverà scenari apocalittici e un presente tutto da ricostruire.
