Gnostic Rosicrucian Kabbalah - Daath Gnosis

2018-02-14

This is the first known English translation of the third of a series of correspondence courses that were given to Spanish language students throughout the Americas. Arnaldo Krumm-Heller (Huiracocha) sent this class to the subscribers of his ""Revista Rosa Cruz"" [Rose Cross Magazine] beginning in 1936. These classes were part of the Fraternitas Rosicruciana Antiqua (F.R.A.) curriculum, an organization Krumm-Heller founded in 1927. ""All the works of the renowned Krumm-Heller (Huiracocha) are wells of Initiatic wisdom that very few have comprehended..."" - from 'GEMINI' in the "Zodiacal Course" by Samael Aun Weor. This book has 2 main sections: 1) ""Aryan-Egyptian Course of Kabbalah"" by Krumm-Heller (Huiracocha) 2) Editor's Appendix with a summary of the correspondences given by the Author related to each Tarot card; a translation of 'Franco-Egyptian' Tarot descriptions which appear to have influenced Krumm-Heller; as well as extracts of articles from his 'Rose Cross Magazine' on relevant topics.

Marvels of Medicine - Yari Pérez Marín 2020

Marvels of Medicine makes a compelling case for including sixteenth century medical and surgical writing in the critical frameworks we now use to think about a genealogy of cultural expression in Latin America. Focusing on a small group of practitioners who differed in their levels of training, but who shared the common experience of having left Spain to join colonial societies in the making, this book analyses the paths their texts charted to attitudes and political positions that would come to characterize a criollo mode of enunciation.

Unlike the accounts of first explorers, which sought to amaze audiences back in Europe with descriptions of strange and astonishing lands, these texts instead engaged the marvellous in an effort to supersede it, stressing the value of sensorial experience and of verifying information thorough repetition and demonstration.

Vernacular medical writing became an unlikely early platform for a new form of regionally-anchored discourse that demanded participation in a global intellectual conversation, yet found itself increasingly relegated to the margins. In responding to that challenge, anatomical treatises, natural histories and surgical manuals exceeded the bounds set by earlier templates becoming rich, hybrid narratives that were as concerned with science as with portraying the lives and sensibilities of women and men in early colonial Mexico.

Literary Culture and U.S. Imperialism - John Carlos Rowe 2000

John Carlos Rowe, considered one of the most eminent and progressive critics of American literature, has in recent years become instrumental in shaping the path of American studies. His latest book examines literary responses to U.S. imperialism from the late eighteenth century to the 1940s. Interpreting texts by Charles Brockden Brown, Poe, Melville, John Rollin Ridge, Twain, Henry Adams, Stephen Crane, W. E. B Du Bois, John Neihardt, Nick Black Elk, and Zora Neale Hurston, Rowe argues that U.S. literature has a long tradition of responding critically or contributing to our imperialist ventures. Following in the critical footsteps of Richard Slotkin and Edward Said, Literary Culture and U.S. Imperialism is particularly innovative in taking account of the public and cultural response to imperialism. In this sense it could not be more relevant to what is happening in the scholarship, and should be vital reading for scholars and students of American literature and culture.

The Reception of Darwinism in the Iberian World - T.F Glick 2012-12-06

I Twenty-five years ago, at the Conference on the Comparative Reception of Darwinism held at the University of Texas in 1972, only two countries of the Iberian world-Spain and Mexico-were represented.' At the time, it was apparent that the topic had attracted interest only as regarded the "mainstream" science countries of Western Europe, plus the United States. The Eurocentric bias of professional history of science was a fact. The sea change that subsequently occurred in the historiography of science makes 1972 appear something like the antediluvian era. Still, we would like to think that that meeting was prescient in looking beyond the mainstream science countries-as then perceived-in order to test the variation that ideas undergo as they pass from center to periphery. One thing that the comparative study of the reception of ideas makes abundantly clear, however, is the weakness of the center/periphery dichotomy from the perspective of the diffusion of scientific ideas. Catholics in mainstream countries, for example, did not handle evolution much better than did their correigionaries on the fringes. Conversely, Darwinians in Latin America were frequently better placed to advance Darwin's ideas in a social and political sense than were their fellow evolutionists on the Continent. The Texas meeting was also a marker in the comparative reception of scientific ideas, Darwinism aside. Although, by 1972, scientific institutions had been studied comparatively, there was no antecedent for the comparative history of scientific ideas.

Information Resources in Toxicology - P.J. Bert Hakkinen 2009-08-19

This latest version of Information Resources in Toxicology (IRT) continues a tradition established in 1982 with the publication of the first edition in presenting an extensive itemization, review, and commentary on the information infrastructure of the field. This book is a unique wide-ranging, international, annotated bibliography and compendium of major resources in toxicology and allied fields such as environmental and occupational health, chemical safety, and risk assessment. Thoroughly updated, the current edition analyzes technological changes and is rife with online tools and links to Web sites. IRT-IV is highly structured, providing easy access to its information. Among the "hot topics covered are Disaster Preparedness and Management,

Nanotechnology, Omics, the Precautionary Principle, Risk Assessment, and Biological, Chemical and Radioactive Terrorism and Warfare are among the designated. • International in scope, with contributions from over 30 countries • Numerous key references and relevant Web links • Concise narratives about toxicologic sub-disciplines • Valuable appendices such as the IUPAC Glossary of Terms in Toxicology • Authored by experts in their respective sub-disciplines within toxicology

Estudios en El Extranjero - Unesco 2003

This is the 32nd edition of the publication which contains over 2,500 entries giving information about post-secondary education and training opportunities in all academic and professional fields in 147 countries for years 2004 and 2005. It has a special focus on distance education, including open and distance learning (ODL) with an annotated listing of online directories and databases of ODL courses worldwide. Information is also given on courses, scholarships and financial assistance available to foreign students, recognition of studies and diplomas obtained abroad, and key issues students should consider before embarking on higher education study. The text is written in English, French and Spanish.

Dictionary of Philippine Biography - E. Arsenio Manuel 1955

Salud y equidad - Roberto Briceño-León 2000-01-01

A saúde da população mundial tem melhorado, porém, apesar do impressionante avanço tecnológico, ainda há graves problemas a superar - entre estes, o maior talvez seja a desigualdade. Diante de tal realidade, o tema da 'equidade em saúde' mostra-se de extrema relevância, uma vez que trata-se de assunto que merece os enfoques político, econômico, social e cultural. Esta coletânea é produto de diversas investigações levadas a cabo por seus autores (reunidos durante o V Congresso Latino-Americano de Ciências Sociais e Medicina, na Venezuela) e pretende, sobretudo, ser uma contribuição para o sonho de construir uma sociedade mais eqüitativa, a partir da melhor compreensão dos determinantes sociais da saúde.
