The End of the Past - Aldo Schiavone 2000

This searching interpretation of past and present addresses fundamental questions about the fall of the Roman Empire. Why did ancient culture, once so strong and rich, come to an end? Was it destroyed by weaknesses inherent in its nature? Or were mistakes made that could have been avoided--was there a point at which Greco-Roman society took a wrong turn? And in what ways is modern society different? Western history is split into two discontinuous eras, Aldo Schiavone tells us: the ancient world was fundamentally different from the modern one. He locates the essential difference in a series of economic factors: a slave-based economy, relative lack of mechanization and technology, the dominance of agriculture over urban industry. Also crucial are aspects of the ancient mentality: disdain for manual work, a preference for transcending (rather than transforming) nature, a basic belief in the permanence of limits. Schiavone's lively and provocative examination of the ancient world, "the eternal theater of history and power," offers a stimulating opportunity to view modern society in light of the experience of antiquity.

Tell El-Hesi - Jeffrey A. Blakely 1980

The Tell el-Hesi site comprises a 25-acre walled city from the Early Bronze III period. It is located on the southeastern edge of the Mediterranean coastal plain, 26 km northeast of Gaza in Israel. Tell el-Hesi was the first Palestinian site at which the principles of ceramic chronology and of stratigraphic excavation were applied and at which the relationship between pottery and stratigraphy was shown to be significant. In 1890 W.M. Flinders Petrie excavated at Hesi and produced a general picture of its occupational history. In 1891-92, F.J. Bliss excavated stratigraphically through each successive level of the mound and identified eleven occupational levels which he grouped into eight strata or "cities". In 1970, The Joint Archaeological Expedition to Tell el-Hesi, sponsored by the American Schools of Oriental Research and a consortium of educational institutions, entered the site with the objectives of investigating in greater detail and with more refined methods the stratigraphic divisions identified by Petrie and Bliss. This book appears as the third volume in the Joint Expedition's series of final publications regarding their field experience and findings. The Joint Expedition completed excavation of four distinct Persian Period occupation sequences from the acropolis area (Field I) of tell el-Hesi. This volume presents and attempts to interpret all of the stratigraphic and artifactual material associated with the Stratum V occupation at the site. It is a significant addition to the limited body of literature on Persian-Period remains in the Levant.

Ancient and Medieval Economic Ideas and Concepts of Social Justice - S. Todd Lowry 1998

13 scholars contribute to this survey of past discussions of the workings of economic structures and of justice in interpersonal relations, cultural institutions and the social order. They investigate the sources in each historic period from the world of the Old Testament and the ancient Greeks through to Spanish scholasticism and its offshoots in the Spanish Americas of the 18th century and relate the ideas of writers from the past to modern discussions.

Marxism and Historiography - Paolo Favilli 2021-10-22

Eminent Italian historian Giovanni Levi once notably remarked that "no one is a Marxist anymore," pointing to a paradox in Italian cultural history. While what is called "Marxism" was supposedly hegemonic over Italian culture, and especially history writing, for decades in the postwar period, it then seems to have suddenly disappeared. This study questions such a vision of a monolithic and hegemonic Marxism. It starts from the most effective anecdote to all ideologising narratives—that is, research into the texts themselves. It sees the Marxist historiography of the post-1945 period as a "history in the making," in which references to Marxian theory were a fundamental factor driving historiographical innovation. This allows the book to bring to light a highly original experience in the development of historiography, based on the long Italian tradition of reflection on historical knowledge.

Regressvs - Pier Luigi D'Eredità 2022-01-13T00:00:00+01:00

Questo testo è nato dalla constatazione di come gli aspetti economici che hanno concorso alla fine dell'impero romano d'occidente abbiano avuto una trattazione meno ampia rispetto ad altre focalizzazioni. Pur in un numero di pagine contenuto e attraverso una scrittura sicuramente aperta anche ai non specialisti, il volume affronta in modo rigoroso l'intero ventaglio dei motivi economici della fine: dalla grande estensione territoriale dell'impero al ruolo dell'esercito, dalla burocrazia alla corruzione, dal ruolo del Cristianesimo ai fattori climatici, dalla logica giuridica del dominio al problema tributario, dal sistema finanziario alle invasioni barbariche.

Mediterráneos - Arturo Echavarren 2014-08-26

Throughout history, different cultural traditions, all of them with considerable linguistic diversity, have flourished and converged in the Mediterranean and Near Eastern regions. The International Conference of Junior Researchers in Mediterranean and Near Eastern Languages and Cultures provided a transverse and interdisciplinary framework of discussion and reflection on the intellectual and cultural production of the Mediterranean and the Near East, from its earliest stages to the present. This book is the result of the analysis of the different political, religious and social trends of thought, material culture, and artistic, literary and linguistic expressions brought together in this geographical area, highlighting the scope of this blend of traditions within different space-time surroundings.

Historical Archaeology - Pedro Paulo A. Funari 2013-03-07

Historical Archaeology demonstrates the potential of adopting a flexible, encompassing definition of historical archaeology which involves the study of all societies with documentary evidence. It encourages research that goes beyond the boundaries between prehistory and history. Ranging in subject matter from Roman Britain and Classical Greece, to colonial Africa, Brazil and the United States, the contributors present a much broader range of perspectives than is currently the trend.

Urban Craftsmen and Traders in the Roman World - Andrew Wilson 2016-02-12

This volume, featuring sixteen contributions from leading Roman historians and archaeologists, sheds new light on approaches to the economic history of urban craftsmen and traders in the Roman world, with a particular emphasis on the imperial period. Combining a wide range of research traditions from all over Europe and utilizing evidence from Italy, the western provinces, and the Greek-speaking east, this edited collection is divided into four sections. It first considers the scholarly history of Roman crafts and trade in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, focusing on Germany and the Anglo-Saxon world, and on Italy and France. Chapters discuss how scholarly thinking about Roman craftsmen and traders was influenced by historical and intellectual developments in the modern world, and how different (national) research traditions followed different trajectories throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The second section highlights the economic strategies of craftsmen and traders, examining strategies of long-distance traders and the phenomenon of specialization, and presenting case studies of leather-working and bread-baking. In the third section, the human factor in urban crafts and trade-including the role of apprenticeship, gender, freedmen, and professional associations-is analysed, and the volume ends by exploring the position of crafts in urban space, considering the evidence for artisanal clustering in the archaeological and papyrological record, and providing case studies of the development of commercial landscapes at Aquincum on the Danube and at Sagalassos in Pisidia.

Apollo and Vulcan - Guido Guerzoni 2011-06-01

Guido Guerzoni presents the results of fifteen years of research into one of the more hotly debated topics among historians of art and of economics: the history of art markets. Dedicating equal attention to current thought in the fields of economics, economic history, and art history, Guerzoni offers a broad and far-reaching analysis of the Italian scene, highlighting the existence of different forms of commercial interchange and diverse kinds of art markets. In doing so he ranges beyond painting and sculpture, to examine as well the economic drivers behind architecture, decorative and sumptuary arts, and performing or ephemeral events. Organized by thematic areas (the ethics and psychology of consumption, an analysis of the demand, labor markets, services, prices, laws) that cover a large chronological period (from the 15th through the 17th century), various geographical areas, and several institution typologies, this book offers an exhaustive and up-to-date study of an increasingly fascinating topic.

Economic Emancipation - Albert Okechukwu Ikpenwa 2011

This work focuses on economic activities, especially in the era of globalization, taking into consideration, their relationship with some of the traditional values of the Church. It focuses particularly on the dignity of the human person and how such relationship can promote or alienate the human person from God, self, fellow humans, society and nature. Rev. Father Dr. Albert Okechukwu Ikpenwa holds B. Phil. and BD from Pontifical Urban University, Rome; Masters and Doctorate degrees from Alphonsian Academy "Alfonsianum", Higher Institute of Moral Theology of the Pontifical Lateran University, Rome.

Revolt. La ribellione nel mondo contro la globalizzazione - Nadav Eyal 2021-02-04T00:00:00+01:00

Nascosta dall'ascesa dei populistici, un'onda di protesta popolare sta agitando il nostro pianeta. Da dove viene questo malcontento? E, soprattutto, dove porterà? Nadav Eyal, in un saggio appassionante come un'inchiesta, esamina le forze che stanno trasformando la nostra realtà economica, politica e culturale. Introduce i lettori alla "ribellione globale", un moto di rabbia che si è imposto progressivamente dall'Italia dell'antipolitica all'Europa della Brexit, dall'America di Trump al mondo intero assediato dalla pandemia.

Una rivolta che nasce dal drammatico conflitto tra i risultati raggiunti dalla globalizzazione (che ha sottratto milioni di persone alla povertà) e i suoi costi immensi (aumento della disuguaglianza economica, danni ambientali, crisi migratorie). Eyal dà voce non solo alla rivoluzione economica e culturale che sta definendo la nostra epoca, ma anche ai protagonisti della controrivoluzione che sono stati marginalizzati e sfruttati. Unendo racconto giornalistico e analisi storica, Eyal mostra quanto tutti gli estremisti, a prescindere da fedi politiche o religiose, si somiglino in modo inquietante. E quanto, sorprendentemente, abbiano in comune le storie dei minatori della Pennsylvania, degli anarchici delle periferie di Atene, dei neonazisti in Germania, delle famiglie di profughi siriani che arrivano sulle coste europee. In corso di traduzione in 15 paesi, Revolt è una replica puntuale a coloro che si arrendono al fanatismo, e, al tempo stesso, un appassionato tributo a chi quotidianamente rivendica per sé e per il nostro pianeta un futuro migliore.

Enhancing the City. - Giovanni Maciocco 2009-09-30

Departing from a survey on the post-modern landscapes of tourism, this book explores the transformations the city has undergone and the way it has become a simulacrum offered to tourists, spectacularised with the aim of increasing its capacity for attraction. The experiences dealt with in the papers of authors belonging to different disciplinary fields, emphasise the city's tendencies to create "stage-set contexts" of the private type, be it historic quarters, theme parks or hypermarkets. Issues like aestheticisation, thematisation and genericity are dealt with, conceptual categories that highlight the weak resistance cities put up against the rules of the leisure industry and, more generally speaking, the consumer economy. The book inquires into the capacity of the urban and territorial project to construct a perspective for a public dimension of space. This is linked with ethical action of the project involving an active relationship with places and a capacity to understand the dynamics of different urban populations. In this sense capacity for innovation and creativity can contribute to transforming "islands" of leisure into places of the city and consumers into citizens.

Italia unita o disunita? - Francesco Felis 2013-11-26

Alla luce dell'esperienza statunitense, questo volume si interroga sul presente federalismo italiano, attraverso un'esposizione comparata tra Italia e USA e un'esposizione storica sui temi che hanno (e hanno avuto) a che fare con il federalismo sia italiano che americano. Alcune considerazioni di ordine finanziario e politico, infine, conducono ad una riflessione sulle problematiche interne e sulla situazione estera, che possono essere di vantaggio o svantaggio per lo sviluppo del federalismo in Italia.

Fighting Hydra-like Luxury - Emanuela Zanda 2013-11-20

From the Old Testament to Elizabethan England, luxury has been morally condemned. In Rome, sumptuary laws (laws controlling consumption) seemed the only weapon to defeat 'hydra-like luxury', the terrible monster that was weakening even the strongest citizens. The first Roman sumptuary law, the Lex Appia, declared that no woman could possess more than a half ounce of gold, wear a dress of different colours, or ride in a carriage in any city unless for a public ceremony. Laws listed how many different colours could be worn by members of different social classes: peasants could wear one colour, soldiers in the army could wear two, army officers could wear three, and members of the royal family could wear seven. A law passed by Emperor Aurelian stated that men couldn't wear shoes that were red, yellow, green, or white, and that only the emperor and his sons could wear red or purple shoes. A variety of other laws limited how much people could spend on parties and how many people they could invite. In this book, Emanuela Zanda explores the purposes behind the enactment of such legislation in Rome during the Republic. She engages with the historical-literary polemic against luxury and focuses on government intervention in matters of extravagance by taking into consideration not only sumptuary laws but also other measures that dealt with self-indulgence. She addresses and answers a number of questions about what exactly the ruling class was trying to achieve, about its real motivations, and about the significance of the ideological discourse surrounding the enactment of these laws.

Diritto delle comunicazioni - Vincenzo Franceschelli 2022-10-21

Il volume ricostruisce, in maniera puntuale e scorrevole, il quadro giuridico del sistema delle comunicazioni, dalle origini fino ai più recenti sviluppi normativi, con numerosi accenni anche all'esperienza nordamericana. Il testo, diviso in trentaquattro capitoli, descrive i cambiamenti che hanno interessato, nel corso dei decenni, le varie tipologie di comunicazioni (telefonica, radiotelevisiva, postale, ecc.), e come il legislatore prima, e i regolatori poi, abbiano inteso governare tali cambiamenti. Un approfondimento particolare è dedicato al tema della "rivoluzione digitale" e al ruolo rivestito dall'AGCom e dalle altre Autorità (AGCM, Garante privacy), sia in ottica di sviluppo dei mercati che di tutela degli utenti dell'ecosistema digitale, tenendo presenti i recentissimi interventi legislativi, di matrice eurolunitaria, in materia di servizi di media audiovisivi e di comunicazioni elettroniche. Infine, il testo affronta il tema dei risvolti giuridici legati all'utilizzo di sistemi di Intelligenza Artificiale, dando conto dei tentativi di regolamentazioni attualmente in corso a livello europeo.

An Economic History of Europe - Antonio Di Vittorio 2006-09-27

An Economic History of Europe provides students with a comprehensive introduction to European economic history from the fifteenth century to the present day. Individual chapters offer brief references to previous historical periods and events, with special attention given to core themes concerning economic development, and an analysis of their change through time and space. Core themes examined in each period include: the increasing prominence of industry international trade demand and supply dynamics agriculture. The unique structure of this text enables students not only to gain a firm grounding in the long-term evolution of the European economy, but also provides an historical overview of the economic development of individual countries. Individual contributors analyze the shift from the modern to the contemporary period and offer a broad explanation of the historical roots of the problems that face today's economic development. This key text is indispensable reading for students in economics, economic history, development economics and history.
